Description

A bungalow in the Las Higuericas area of Pilar de la Horadada, Spain, represents compact housing of 46 m² within a new residential complex located just 150 meters from the Mediterranean coast. This accommodation with two bedrooms and two bathrooms suits couples, small families, or those seeking a compact yet functional option near the sea.

Proximity to the coast is one of the key advantages of this property. The 150-meter distance means the beach is approximately a 2-3 minute walk away. Such location allows easy beach visits at any time of day, whether for morning swimming, daytime relaxation on the sand, or evening strolls along t...
